
Short winter days tied to depression

Posted by gabriel - 2007/08/20 06:05

The AMA has tied short winter days and the corresponding lack of sunlight to depression. There is a very simple fix. Eliminate the "fall back" part of daylight savings and let us have another hour of sunlight after work in the very short days of winter.

=====